FEEDING GUIDE

Before starting to feed, ensure that the appropriate animal husbandry procedures are completed - consult a veterinarian for advice. Livestock of similar size and age should be drafted into groups.

Before starting to feed Barastoc Sheep & Cattle ensure that all stock have been fed with palatable hay to appetite for the first day.

Begin feeding Barastoc Sheep & Cattle at a rate of 0.5% of liveweight per day. The rate of feeding can be gradually increased each day for the next 21 days up to a maximum of 2% liveweight per head per day.

Ensure that a palatable roughage source such as dry pasture and/or palatable hay or straw is always fed to appetite. Stock must have access to a roughage source at all times.

Barastoc Sheep & Cattle can be fed in self-feeders (allow up to 35cm trough space per head for cattle and 12cm per head for sheep). Ensure slides are set to regulate feed intake and livestock need to lick feed out from under the slide. Alternatively, pellets can be fed in troughs (allow up to 60cm trough space per head for cattle and 30cm for sheep) depending on liveweight.

If feeding by hand into troughs, split the daily allocation into two feeds.
